

Alternative Investment Funds (AIF)

Alternative Investment Funds (AIF)

Alternative Investment Funds (AIFs) provide investors with access to specialised investment strategies beyond conventional equity and debt markets. These funds invest across opportunities such as private equity, credit, pre-IPO companies, and market-neutral strategies, with the objective of delivering long-term value through disciplined research, strategic asset allocation, and active risk management. Designed for sophisticated investors, AIFs offer diversification and exposure to high-conviction investment opportunities.

WHAT SIHL OFFERS ?

Category III Alternative Investment Funds

SIHL's Category III AIFs offer investors access to actively managed, market-driven investment strategies designed to pursue absolute returns across changing market conditions. The product range may use long-only and long-short equity strategies, derivatives, leverage, and tactical positioning, supported by disciplined research and robust risk management.

With the flexibility to respond to market opportunities and volatility, SIHL's AIFs are designed for investors seeking alpha-oriented strategies and enhanced return potential, with a corresponding higher level of investment risk.

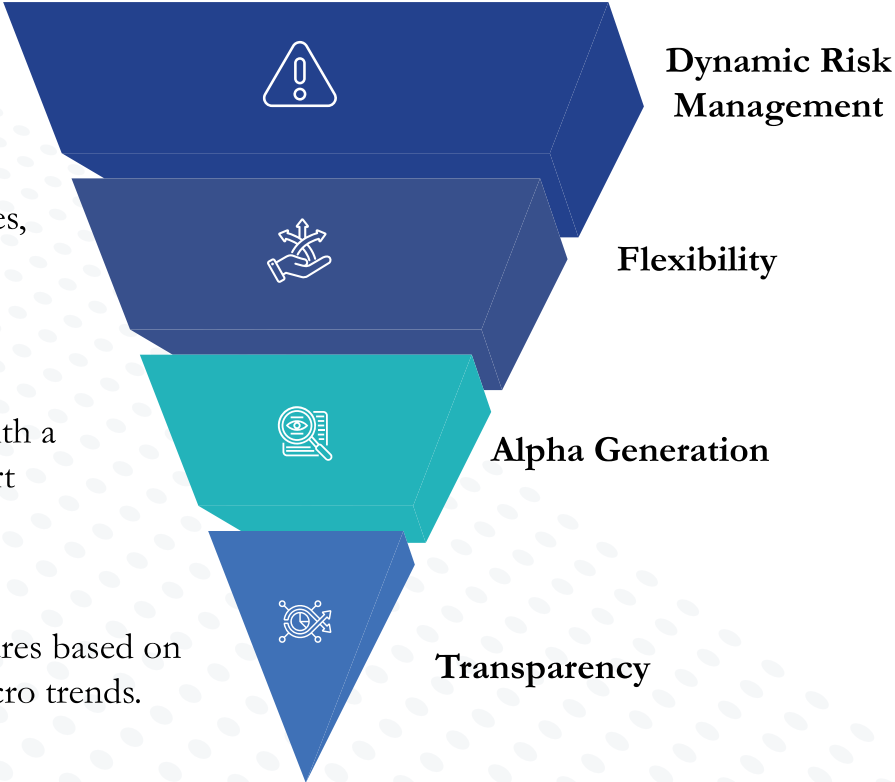

It Focuses on

Real-time portfolio monitoring and hedging strategies to reduce drawdowns.

Regular reporting, NAV disclosures, and compliance with SEBI/other regulatory standards.

Research-driven stock selection with a clear thesis for both long and short positions.

Ability to shift exposures based on market cycles and macro trends.
